- A World of Wonder, One Little Step at a Time

WELCOME BACK TO SCHOOL!

Summer holidays are over, hooray!
We ate mangoes all sunny day,
Back to school where we belong,
With a happy heart and cheerful song!
My bag is ready, my shoes are new,
My smile is big and bright and true,
Hello friends! Hello ma'am!
Let's learn and play hand-in-hand!

The bells rang, the doors opened wide, and our little stars bounced back with bright smiles and sweet holiday stories!

With bags on their backs and excitement in their eyes, they hugged their friends and teachers, and filled the classrooms with giggles and cheer.

We missed our tiny tots dearly, and now our school feels complete again.

Welcome back, our little wonders - let's make this year the most magical one!

THE STUDENT CHRONICLES

- Stories, Thoughts & Imagination from Young Minds

THE CLOCK THAT ALWAYS STOPPED

"Don't look at the clock," she said. When I asked why, she replied, "The clock has been stopped for months and no one knows the reason."

At first, I laughed and thought it was just a myth. The next day, I noticed the clock above the school gate. I was surprised to see that it really stopped at 8:30 AM every day. It stopped at the same time and started working again after midnight. I found it strange but mysterious.

After telling my class teacher, I asked my classmates about it. Many said, "It's just an old clock, leave it alone." Others said, "It's haunted, don't go near it." But I was curious.

The next day, many teachers along with a worker went to the school gate and repaired the clock. Everyone was happy to see it working again. However, after a few minutes, the clock stopped once again at 8:30.

I tried asking the school staff and the students, but no one knew the reason. Days passed and I completely forgot it because I became very busy with school work.

One afternoon, my class teacher asked me to stay after school and help cleaning the store. While cleaning, I found an old dusty box hidden behind a cupboard. Curious, I opened it and found a letter inside.

Inside the letter it said: "To the reader, Mr. Rajiv was a brave teacher who saved forty students during a terrible accident many years ago. He sacrificed his life while helping others. The clock stopped at exactly 8:30 AM, the time of the incident. Since then, it has remained a reminder of his courage and sacrifice. Never forget those who risk their lives to help others."

I was amazed after reading the letter. I immediately rushed to the principal's office and showed him the letter. The next day during the morning assembly, the principal read it aloud to the entire school. Everyone stood silently as they listened to the story of Mr. Rajiv. From that day onwards, no one laughed at it. Instead, they looked at the clock with respect.

बूँद

गर्मी के संग हो जाती है,
सूरज सबको तड़पाता है।
प्यासे लोग तरसते हैं,
मिलता नहीं है पानी।

आओ हम सभी
इसको बाँट लें।
बूँद की हर बूँद का
हम सब करें सम्मान।

बूँदों को बचाने से,
पानी बचाना बचाने से,
पानी की एक-एक बूँद
कम नहीं कितनी ज़रूरत से।

THE CLOUD

The Cloud
What is fluffy?
What is White?
What can you See,
When Skies are Bright?

What can Float?
What brings Rain?
What is higher,
Than a bird or a plain?

Say it Loud
Oh! 'It's a Cloud
